WORKPLACE DISPUTE RESOLUTION AND OPEN DOOR POLICY

Objective:

Pinnacle Financial Partners believes that open communication is vital to resolving workplace concerns promptly and fairly. This policy outlines the structured steps employees should take when seeking resolution for work-related conflicts, policy misunderstandings, or unfair treatment.

Step 1: Informal Open Door Discussion

Employees are encouraged to discuss any concerns directly with their immediate supervisor first. Most workplace issues can be resolved quickly through informal dialogue.

Step 2: HR Business Partner Escalation

If the concern involves the immediate supervisor or remains unresolved after Step 1, the employee may submit a written statement to their assigned HR Business Partner. HR will meet with the employee within 5 business days to review the grievance and facilitate a mediated discussion.

Step 3: Formal Panel Review

If Step 2 does not yield a mutually acceptable solution, the employee may request a formal review by the Dispute Resolution Panel, composed of the Chief Human Resources Officer, a peer-level employee representative, and an executive officer. The decision of the Panel will be issued in writing within 10 business days and represents the final internal determination.
