

Initial Incident and Injury Report

Nexus Manufacturing Operations • August 18, 2026

CONFIDENTIAL INCIDENT AND INJURY REPORT

Date of Incident: August 17, 2026

Time of Incident: 14:30 EST

Location: Assembly Line B, Sector 4

Involved Employee: Michael Vance (Employee ID: 44920)

Job Title: Machine Operator II

Supervisor: Clara Sterling

Description of Event:

At approximately 14:30, Michael Vance was transitioning from the control panel of Extruder Unit 3 to the quality assurance staging area. While carrying a 15-pound calibration gauge, Mr. Vance slipped on an unidentified liquid substance (later confirmed to be hydraulic fluid) on the concrete walkway. He fell backward, sustaining a blunt impact to his lower back and right elbow.

Immediate Actions Taken:

Production on Assembly Line B was immediately halted. The on-site occupational health nurse responded within three minutes, assessing the employee for suspected musculoskeletal trauma. Mr. Vance reported localized pain in the lumbar region and numbness in his right forearm. He was transported via company-contracted medical transport to Northside General Hospital for further diagnostic evaluation.

Root Cause Analysis (Preliminary):

An initial walk-through by the Environmental Health and Safety (EHS) team revealed a degraded seal on a secondary hydraulic line belonging to Extruder Unit 3, which resulted in a slow, continuous leak. The spill containment berm was improperly positioned, allowing the fluid to pool into the designated pedestrian walkway.

OSHA Recordability Status:

This incident is classified as OSHA-Recordable due to the necessity of medical treatment beyond basic first aid and anticipated restricted work activity. EHS has initiated the entry into the OSHA 300 Log.

Corrective Actions:

- Extruder Unit 3 remains tagged out of service pending a full seal replacement and pressure testing.
- All secondary hydraulic lines across Assembly Lines A, B, and C will undergo mandatory preventative maintenance inspections by Friday, August 21.
- The injured employee has been placed on Short-Term Medical Leave pending a return-to-work clearance from his attending physician.